

Greetings to you all, a wonderful group of people and friends. How are you doing? We pray you are all well and healthy and that you are continually putting on all the armour that God gives, so you can defend yourself against the devil's tricks.

We are well. We thank God for His grace that sustains us plus all our Mangyan students. It has been more than a month after the flooding, we've done some clean up so kids could go back to school. We needed to do repairs and we are praying for provision. Also we are planning of doing the major repairs during school holidays which will be on April. Yet there are minor repairs that can't wait till then and needed doing like yesterday. Please be praying with us and for us.... thank you!

Somehow our students' performance at school were affected by what we've all gone thru. A number of our young gentlemen students refused to go back to school after the flood, working instead at a local construction company building roads for few hundred pesos each day to help their family's expenses. We've talked to the parents and students and encouraged them to finish their schooling so they may better help their families in the future. I suppose they are having difficulty to choose between the current needs today versus the long term value of education. On the other hand, some girls had been working really hard after the flood, specially the college students who will be finishing in March. They are on on-the-job training and is almost working double time to be able to finish the number of hours required.

Danny and myself are keeping ourselves healthy. After praying about it, we are seriously thinking/ planning about building a higher dormitory. In the four Christmases we've spent in here, we've had 2 floods and a typhoon....it was only in 2017 when we were spared from storm/bad weather, but the storm we had that year was Danny's health.... yet at all times God had been so, so faithful. We will be talking to a professional builder - engineer/architect and would ask for estimates. Please continue to be with us as you had always been in the past, praying and seeking God on our behalf.

THANK YOU!

Love & prayers,
Danny & Lily
